(FREE pack contains: ReelMatrix 6.3 mm Regular Matrices (qty. of 50) RM200H)

Clinical Case: The margin elevation technique allows proper isolation and elevation of deep margin areas prior to restoring with an indirect partial coverage restoration (inlay or onlay). The use of the Garrison® Reel Matrix™ margin elevation band allows proper adaptation and seal of these deep areas so that a composite margin elevation can be performed.

Pre-op X-ray shows the margin location for #17 subgingivally prior to elevation.

Seat the margin elevation band subgingivally. The narrowness of the matrix will allow it to slide subgingivally and seal the margin efficiently.

Seal the dentin and elevate the deep margin with restorative composite.

Remove the matrix and finish with a #12 blade to remove any flash. The deep margin has been relocated 1-2 mm supragingival for predictable isolation and delivery of an indirect bonded restoration.

Post-op X-ray shows the completed margin elevation prior to final restoration being completed.
