Build a better clinical workflow.

Better for your team. Better for your workflow. Better for your bottom line.

Whether you're replacing stainless steel or standardizing procedures, now is the perfect time to expand your clinical workflow for a more organized, standardized, and high-performing practice.

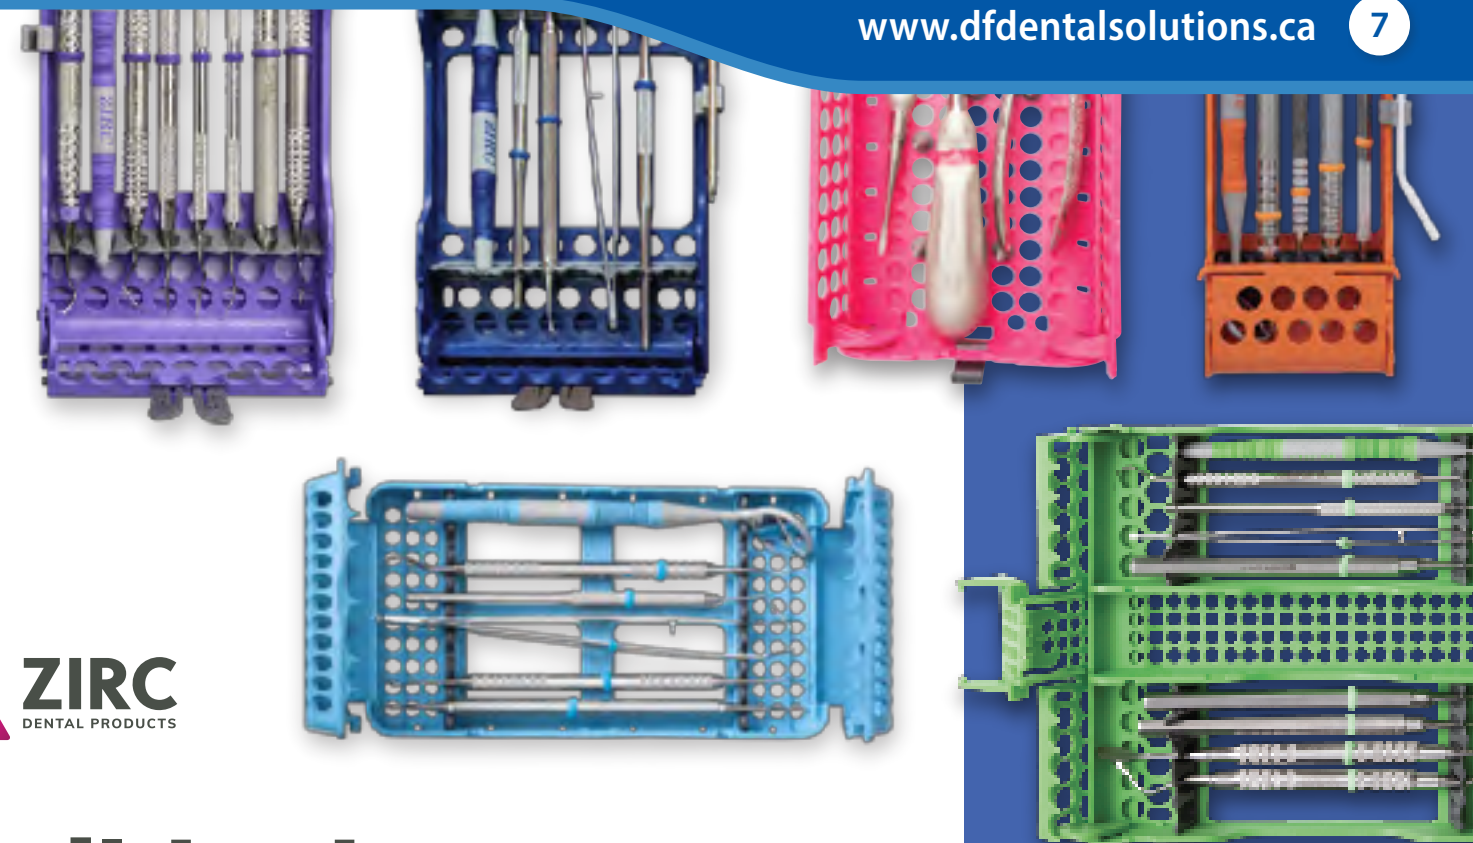

- Lightweight one-piece resin construction reduces handling fatigue.
- Curved edge design promotes efficient cleaning and drying.
- Secure instrument retention prevents movement during processing, extending the life of your instruments.
- Highly durable for repeated sterilization.
- Available in multiple colors to support Color Method® organization and standardized workflows.
- Reduces the risk of sharps injuries by minimizing the handling of loose instruments and keeping them contained.

CASE STUDY

ReelMatrix™ as a Predictable Tool for Margin Elevation and Core Build-Up Prior to Indirect Restorations

Radiographic evaluation showed extensive carious lesions beneath the existing restorations.

After endodontic treatment of tooth #1.4, the provisional material from tooth #1.4 and the old restoration and carious lesion on tooth #1.5 were removed.

Due to the extension of the carious lesions, the cavity margins on both teeth were located at a subgingival level.

After completing the adhesive protocol using a universal adhesive system, it was decided to perform margin elevation and core build-up using the ReelMatrix™ system.

A highly filled flowable composite resin, G-aenial Universal Injectable by GC, and Solare composite resin by GC were used for the restorative build-up.

Once the build-up was completed, the matrix bands were removed, and both teeth were prepared to receive indirect restorations.

In a third appointment, the indirect restorations were cemented.

SURGICAL SUTURE

The LOOK™ line of sutures is one of the best known and most trusted suture brands on the market. From the beginning, these sutures have been known for their quality - and that legacy of quality continues to meet the demands of surgeons worldwide. The precision manufacturing of our LOOK™ sutures ensures consistent needle strength and durability that holds up to every pass. LOOK™ Sutures are offered in a variety of absorbable and non-absorbable materials and are attached to needles with superior sharpness, penetration, and strength characteristics.

All of the suture materials your practice needs

LOOK™ Surgical Suture is offered in a variety of absorbable and non-absorbable materials and are attached to needles with superior sharpness, penetration, and strength characteristics.

Needle performance

LOOK™ needle performance is an output of its design. Materials, geometry, and coatings work together to produce a high performance surgical instrument. Every needle is forged from an alloy of Iron, Nickel, and Chromium. Each element serves a role in delivering strength, ductility, and hardness.
